

Top 10 Reasons to Train Your Dog

10. Teaching life skills increases safety and can save your dog's life
 9. Builds confidence in shy and/or fearful pups
 8. Stimulates their brain and gives them a "job" to do
 7. A trained dog is more likely to stay in their forever home
 6. It's a fun activity for the whole family
 5. Increases sociability and enjoyment of social situations
 4. Decreases or eliminates unwanted behaviors
 3. Enables you to do more activities and sports with your dog
 2. Increases your understanding of each other
 1. Strengthens your bond and enriches your relationship

We believe that taking the time to train your dog is the #1 activity you can do together that will create a life-long relationship built on trust and communication. Training teaches your dog the difference between right and wrong and helps them make good decisions and it teaches you how to understand your dog's needs.

Dogs generally do things that make them feel good, that feed their belly and that get them what they want. If you take the time to teach your dog how to politely ask for things such as sitting for petting, food, walks, etc., they will learn that being polite is the best option.

Ask us about our training options to help get you and your dog off to a great start!

